

The Dayton Daily News reports (<http://bit.ly/QwGPJb>) that Miami County elections director Steve Quillen cited "the stress of the upcoming presidential election" in his decision.

The county election board accepted Quillen's resignation Friday, just weeks before the election. He is a Republican so the county Republican Party in the key presidential battleground state will recommend his successor.

Read More -> Sun Herald